Happy Halloween!

DRUG BUSTERS

So far over the course of this year, 50 million doses of fentanyl were seized in raids across the state. At a press conference earlier this week, Pennsylvania Attorney General Dave Sunday said 27 million of those doses were recovered in and around Philadelphia. This is part of a larger movement from the federal government to crack down on the illicit drug trade in the U.S.

GOING NUCLEAR

President Donald Trump announced yesterday that the U.S. military will resume testing nuclear weapons. The last time the U.S. tested a nuclear weapon was 1992. This comes as news broke earlier this week of Russia's successful tests of a new nuclear-powered cruise missile and a nuclear-powered underwater drone.

IN DISGRACE

King Charles III stripped Prince Andrew of any remaining titles and evicted him from his royal residence. Calls for Andrew's ousting mounted as new information on his relationship with infamous sex offender Jeffrey Epstein came to light including emails that suggest he was in contact with Epstein for longer than was publicly known. After losing his royal birthright, Prince Andrew will only be known as Andrew Mountbatten Windsor in the eyes of Buckingham Palace.

RELISH THE FREIGHT

The Oscar Mayer Wienermobile is rolling through south central Pennsylvania just in time for Halloween weekend. From Trunk or Treat events to spooky fun runs, the iconic hot dog on wheels will be making stops across Dauphin and Cumberland counties through Sunday. Fans can catch "Bun-Length Ben" and "Grill 'em Up Gabby" as they spread smiles, snap selfies, and serve up some good-natured Halloween fun on the road. Check out the full list of stops and times here.

NO COLLEGE GAMEDAY

YouTube TV and Disney failed to reach a new contract, temporarily pulling all Disney content. This includes ESPN, ABC, and other Disney channels. The previous contract expired last night at 11:59 PM. This could greatly impact those interested in couch surfing while watching college football this weekend. According to Disney, Google (YouTube TV's parent company) "is using its market dominance to eliminate competition" while Google argues that Disney's new terms would raise prices for customers.
