PA'S GEN Z POLITICIANS

Starting this month, Pennsylvania's newly elected officials are beginning their terms, some of which are from a younger generation. Four Generation Z (1997-2012) Mayors have been elected in the Commonwealth, including Carnegie Mayor Sam Bigham, Darby Mayor Joar Dahn, Westover Mayor Dylan Stevens, and Cleona Mayor Matt Zechman. The Gen Z Mayors represent both ends of the ideological spectrum. In Pennsylvania, the average age for an elected official is 61.

UPDATING HISTORY

Blue and gold markers can be found throughout Pennsylvania, marking significant historical sites. Now, the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission is looking to put up new historical markers throughout the Commonwealth, and nominations are open. The commission is searching for any historical site that educates the public on Pennsylvania history. If you know of a historical Pennsylvania monument, submit your nomination here.

NEW CHAIR

State Senator Gene Yaw (R – Lycoming) was recently named the new Chairman of the Chesapeake Bay Commission, which includes Senate and House members from Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia. He replaced State Senator Sara Love (D – MD). On this recognition, Yaw stated, “I’m proud that Pennsylvania is being recognized as a leader on clean water and a showcase for innovative projects that highlight local benefits. I am looking forward to scaling up our efforts over the coming year.”

PLAY BALL

Harrisburg Senators have released the schedule for their 2026 season beginning with an April 7th opening day. They are sure to make a bang with 18 firework displays featuring their largest show ever on July 4th to celebrate America 250. The variety of theme days are sure to draw a crowd to City Island. Go Senators!

NOT ANOTHER HANGOVER

The Eagles' season is officially over following their depressing 23-19 loss to the 49ers last night. Despite having the highest paid offense, the Birds were unable to advance in the playoffs. Even after resting the starters last week, the "well-rested" Eagles offense was only able to put up 6 points in the second half and failed to convert on a potential game winning drive. Additionally, Jake Elliott missed an extra point, A.J. Brown had some major drops after a very vocal season, and Kevin Patullo was unable to make any second half adjustments... (again). Pennsylvania has another shot at a road to the Superbowl with the Pittsburgh Steelers facing off against the Houston Texans tonight.
