DISMISSED

The lawsuit brought on by Harrisburg Mayor Wanda Williams against the Harrisburg City Council was dismissed by Dauphin County Judge Jeff Engle. The Judge said that council was acting within its power to cut funding to three positions in the Mayor's Administration. Williams claims that she must defend the city and plans to appeal the decision.

PA AT THE GRAMMYS

PA at the Grammys... Last weekend, the annual Grammy awards were held, and a Pennsylvania native received a Grammy award. John Leopold, who grew up right in Harrisburg, won a Grammy award for "A Tribute to the King of Zydeco," an album on which he was the executive producer. Zydeco is a music genre from Creole communities in Louisiana, which Leopold is quite passionate about. He speaks highly of his childhood in the Midstate. Congratulations!

BEST IN SHOW

Penny the Doberman pinscher walked away proudly as the best in show from the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show on Tuesday. Penny was followed up by a Chesapeake Bay Retriever named Cota. Penny's handler is no stranger to the big stage, having won previously in 1989 with another Doberman. When asked about Penny, her handler said, "she is as great a Doberman as I have ever seen."

LIFE SENTENCE

Many may recall the summer of 2024, when now-President Donald Trump experienced more than one assassination attempt. Now, Ryan Routh, who attempted to assassinate the now-president at one of his Florida golf courses, has been sentenced to life in prison. The sentence was delivered yesterday after Routh was charged with five different felonies for his assassination attempt. Routh's attorney attempted to get Routh an easier, 27-year sentence. However, this attempt was disregarded, and prosecutors succeeded in arguing for a life sentence.

"THE MOST SENSATIONAL INSPIRATIONAL CELEBRATIONAL MUPPETATIONAL"

Yesterday, Disney Plus began streaming the first episode of the hopeful revival of The Muppet Show. With Sabrina Carpenter as the musical guest and cameos from Seth Rogen and Maya Rudolph, the show delivered laughs for adults and kids alike. For now, Disney has only greenlit this episode but fans are hopeful there are many more to come in the future.
