PRIMARY

Just a last few doors to knock and the Primary will be here. The entire PA House of Representatives and half of the State Senate stand for election tomorrow, along with Congressional and State Party candidates. Governor Josh Shapiro and State Treasurer Stacy Garrity are both running unopposed in tomorrow's election as they look toward their Gubernatorial battle this November. Best of luck to all the candidates!

NEW BUREAU

On Friday, Pennsylvania State Police (PSP) Acting Commissioner Lt. Col. George Bivens announced the agency created a new bureau. The discovery of a recent hitlist against PA lawmakers (along with other politically charged violence) has initiated PSP to create the political violence threat unit, which will be housed in the Bureau of Criminal Investigation. The unit will work to inform the agencies responsible for protecting lawmakers to ensure that all of those involved in their safety are aware of any potential threats. Bivens wrote in a letter to those named on the list that their safety was his "utmost concern" and ensured that these changes would "address shortcomings" in this recent incident.

POTHOLE PATROL

The City of York has announced an effort to address one of every city's biggest nuisances - potholes. City officials are asking motorists to report potholes on streets, so they can begin to take inventory. The York Mayor, Sandie Walker, is calling the initiative, "6 in 26: Mayor Walker's Pothole Patrol." Individuals can begin reporting potholes today by calling the Highway Bureau at (717) 849 - 2320 between 9am to 2:30pm.

YUMMY

Root beer fans get ready! In honor of America250, the PA native ice cream company Turkey Hill will be releasing a limited-edition root beer float flavor of ice cream. The flavor consists of vanilla ice cream with swirls of root beer flavored sherbet. It will be sold where other Turkey Hill products are sold. We can only hope that they use Sprecher Root Beer.

BIRDIE

Aaron Rai won the PGA Championship yesterday with a score of nine under par, beating his next closest opponents by 3 shots. Rai becomes the first English golfer to win this major in 107 years and marks his first major championship. Prior to this weekend, Rai had only one other career win on the Tour. He shot an impressive 65 (-5) on Sunday, securing this name in the history books.
