A COUNTRY BOY CAN SURVIVE

After months of speculation over his health, U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell (R-KY) made his return to Capitol Hill last night. He was hospitalized back in June and was discharged in early August but had not made a public appearance until last night. Spectators noted that he was in good spirits and was escorted around in a wheelchair.

SHINE BRIGHT

Children's Advocacy Centers (CAC) of Pennsylvania is holding its annual SHINE walk. This event will begin at 11:00 AM Friday on City Island, crossing the Walnut Street Bridge, then to State Street and ending at the Capitol Building. The 1-mile walk aims to shed light on the issue of child sexual abuse in Pennsylvania and show survivors that they are not alone in their struggles. By showcasing CAC's mission, this event also offers an opportunity to raise funds for CAC's work in coordinating abuse investigations and developing CAC's in counties that do not have one nearby.

GOAL DIGGERS

Keystone FC, a Mechanicsburg-based nonprofit youth soccer club, has purchased more than 63 acres in South Middleton Township near Carlisle for a planned $10.5 million, 10-field sports complex. The project is envisioned as a multi-sport recreation destination that will provide the club with a permanent home while expanding athletic opportunities throughout Cumberland County. If completed as planned, the complex could become a regional hub for youth sports, tournaments, and community recreation.

FALLING INTO PLACE

Northeastern Pennsylvania could be in for a particularly vibrant fall, with peak foliage expected throughout October. Higher elevations in the Poconos and northern counties may reach peak color between Oct. 5-12, followed by the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre region around Oct. 10-19 and lower valleys later in the month. Officials say adequate summer rainfall has left many trees in excellent condition, setting the stage for a colorful autumn display across the region.
